NOTE FROM THE PASTOR:

Dear Parishioners:

Claude Newman was born in Arkansas in 1923. Newman was an illiterate, black sharecropper raised by his grandmother. In 1939, she married a man who continuously abused her. This deeply angered Claude, who eventually shot and killed him. Claude was sentenced to die in the electric chair on January 20, 1944. While on death row, Claude noticed a Miraculous Medal around his fellow prisoner's neck. The man gave it to Claude, who placed it around his own neck without understanding its meaning. Later that night, Claude was awakened to see, as he later explained, "the most beautiful woman that God ever created." Claude was overwhelmed, but the mysterious Lady calmed him saying, "If you would like me to be your Mother, and you would like to be my child, send for a priest of the Catholic Church." Prison chaplain Fr. Robert O'Leary (1911-1984) then met with Claude, who, along with his cell mates, asked to be received into the Catholic Church.

Several weeks passed, and Fr. O'Leary introduced the subject of the Sacrament of Penance when Claude interrupted him saying, "Oh, I know about that! The Lady told me that when we go to Confession, we're kneeling down not in front of a priest, but in front of the Cross of her Son. And that when we're truly sorry for our sins, and confess them, the Blood He shed flows down over us and washes us free from all sins." Fr. O'Leary and the nuns who were present in the class remained in stunned silence. Claude mistook their shock for anger and feverishly apologized. "Oh, don't be angry! Don't be angry!" he pleaded. "I didn't mean to just yell that out!" Overcome with emotion, the priest answered, "We're not angry, Claude. We're just surprised. Have you seen the Lady again?" Claude pulled the priest aside and whispered, "She told me that if you doubted me, I was supposed to remind you that you made a vow to her while you were lying in a ditch in Holland in 1940 during the war. She said she's still waiting for you to keep your vow." Fr. O'Leary later related, "Claude then told me precisely what the vow was."

Claude's revelation thoroughly convinced Fr. O'Leary that Claude was telling the truth. Apparently, Fr. O'Leary had promised our Lady that he would build a church in honor of her Immaculate Conception. The priest was able to fulfill that vow in 1947 when he was transferred to Clarksdale, Mississippi to serve a black parish in need of a church building. The Bishop of Natchez, Mississippi had been sent $5000 by Boston Archbishop Cushing for the Negro missions. The money was the exact amount needed to build the church for which the Blessed Mother had been waiting.

A week later, Fr. O'Leary was preparing to teach the prisoners about the Blessed Sacrament. The Sisters were again present for this lesson as well. Claude said, "The Lady told me that in Communion, I'll see what looks like a piece of bread but she told me that it's really and truly her Son, and that He'll be with me just as He was with the Lady before He was born in Bethlehem. She told me that I should spend my time like she did during her lifetime with Him—in loving Him, adoring Him, thanking Him, praising Him and asking Him for blessings. I shouldn't be distracted or bothered by anybody else or anything else. Instead, I should spend my time thinking about Him." After this period of catechesis, Claude and his cellmates and a group of women prisoners were received into the Catholic Church. Claude took the name Claude Jude. He was baptized on January 16, 1944. The Hymnbooks: Thanks for all your support, comments and advice regarding the next course of action with regards to our beloved hymnbooks. I have passed along your ideas to Fr. Eric. They have included everything from complete replacement ($8,500 - $11,500 for 475 books/choir books/organ books) to the most economical solution (retire the wounded books and replace with misselettes, approximately $1,200 a year). These retired books would go home with dedicated family members or be rebound by family and returned to the pew.

Fr. Eric will share your ideas with The Parish Council and see how best to proceed. In the meantime thanks so very much for your donations, commitments and checks to Sacred Heart Choir earmarked hymnbooks. I will keep you posted.

In the meantime, thanks for putting away a cherished hymnbook (pew, rack, number on back cover). Any questions call Pamela. (VM 24)
